

CLOSE DOORS OF CARNEGIE TRUST

NEW YORK FINANCIAL CONCERN
FORCED TO QUIT BY STATE BANK EXAMINER.

DUE TO THE HARD TIMES

Has Been Steady Run for the Past
Week and It Could Not Stand the Strain.

New York, Jan. 7.—The Carnegie Trust Company was closed today by State Superintendent of Banks, Charles A. Smith. The company was chartered in 1907 and had a paid capital of $1,500,000. The gross deposits were $8,000,000.

Meagre Statement.
The superintendent of banks issued a statement to the effect that an examination of the affairs of the Carnegie Trust Company had caused him to conclude it was in an unsafe condition to transact business and not safe to continue. The superintendent refused to make further statement.

Quiet Run.
Officers of the closed institution declared there had been a quiet run on the bank for more than a week and this had used all ready resources. They declared the state banking department was called upon to interfere to protect the depositors.

Affects Market.
The news of the Carnegie Trust Company caused some hurried selling at the opening of the stock market today but the fractional losses were quickly recovered and the end of fifteen minutes some stocks showed net gain.

Shaw Once President.

New York, N. Y., Jan. 7.—Former Secretary of the Treasury Shaw was president of the institution after its organization in 1907, but resigned in a few months because of differences with other officers. Carnegie had had no connection with this bank and the adoption of its name was without his authority.

Enormous Loans.
Enormous unsecured loans to irresponsible parties are hinted at in connection with the closing of the bank.

Blame Robin.
George Robin, the indicted wrecker of the Northern bank of New York, is indirectly responsible for the failure of the Carnegie Trust company, is the report in financial circles today.

Caused by Indictment.
The run which caused the suspension of the trust company, was caused by Robin's recent indictment, it is said. Robin was a former director.

MAYOR REFUSES THE SOCIETY'S DEMAND

Milwaukee Physicians Want Mayor
Seldel to Remove Present
Health Officer.

Milwaukee, Jan. 7.—Mayor Emil Seldel refused to be interviewed today in connection with the visit of twenty-five members of the Milwaukee County Medical Society who requested in person yesterday that Dr. P. A. Crafts, the Seldel appointee as head of the city health department be discharged. The physicians accused Crafts of incompetency. It is rumored today that the mayor will ignore the request of the medical society.

FIRE DESTROYED AN IOWA CITY HOTEL

One Man Injured In Escaping From the Burning Structure—Loss
$50,000.

Iowa City, Ia., Jan. 7.—Fire of an unknown origin at an early hour this morning caused a loss of $50,000 to the St. James hotel block. The fire started in the Plink's cigar store and spread rapidly to the hotel. The guests were driven from the building in night robes. Many came down the stairs. W. J. Rutherford, a traveling man of Neenah, Wis., fell and was seriously injured.

NARROW ESCAPE IN ELEVATOR ACCIDENT

Car Drops Twelve Stories In Milwaukee Injuring Two Women Occupants.

Milwaukee, Jan. 7.—Two women and an elevator boy narrowly escaped death today when an elevator in the Railway Exchange building fell from the twelfth to the first floor. The female passengers were scrub women employed in the building. Both were taken to a hospital slightly injured. The car fell with such force that it rebounded to the second floor when it struck a safety device at the bottom.

HAD ANARCHISTS A PLOT FOR MURDER?

Alfonso Said to Have Been the Object of Their Proposed Attention Recently.

Madrid, Spain, Jan. 7.—It was learned today what is regarded as an attempt to assassinate King Alfonso was made during his visit here Thursday. He had just entered the governor's palace when an explosion occurred in the crowd outside. Two persons were injured. The authorities said the explosion was caused by a pistol which dropped from a civilian's pocket.

Story Denied.
Madrid, Spain, Jan. 7.—King Alfonso issued an official denial to the story that an attempt was made on his life at Malaga while enroute to Melilla.

INGRAM PROMISES VERY SHORT SESSION

Proposed Speaker Thinks 100 Days
See End Of Legislature—Governor's Message Ready.

Madison, Jan. 7.—C. A. Ingram of Durand who is slated for speaker of the general assembly is expected to that place, will provide over the state body exempt from pro-recession promises of appointments. He will also hold out for a brief businesslike session.

100 Days Only.
This was the substance of a statement by the prospective speaker who arrived here today ready for the coming session. It is generally believed the session will not be over 100 days.

Receives Message.
Governor McGovern received the first copy of his constitutional message to the legislature from the printer today and directed sending out copies to be broadcast to the press.

Renssch Talked.
Dr. Paul S. Renssch of the university, prominently mentioned as a possible appointee to the vacancy on the Wisconsin Railway Commission, today held a long conference with the Governor. It is generally believed Renssch will receive the appointment.

AGREEMENT REACHED IN BACK TAX MATTER

Results of Two Days' Conference of Special Committee With Railroad
Heads Are Unannounced Today.

Madison, Wis., Jan. 7.—An agreement upon a plan of adjustment of the $800,000 back tax dispute with four large railroads operating in Wisconsin has been reached with the officials of the roads affected, which will be incorporated with a report to be filed with the governor.

The special committee of the 1909 legislature, headed by ex-Senator Geo. L. Hurdall of Superior which returned this morning from a two days' conference with the railroad officials, this afternoon is drafting the report, which may be filed today or possibly not before Monday.

All the members of the committee remain silent as to the nature of the agreement with the railroad officials, and the committee spent an hour just before noon with Governor McGovern informing him as to the nature of its coming report.

COURT DECISION'S EFFECT ON LAW

RECENT U. S. SUPREME COURT DECISION FAVORABLE TO GUARANTEE DEPOSIT
LAWS.

Forward Step Taken By Western States In Financial Question Is Found "Constitutional".
(Copyright 1911 by the United Press Association.)

Senator Owen On Bank Guaranty.
Every state in the union should now adopt the bank deposit guaranty system.

The guarantee of bank deposits throughout the country would and should be adopted.

The general adoption of the system would bring out hundreds of millions now hoarded.

The real opposition comes from ignorant officials of big city banks.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 7.—As one of the leading exponents of the bank deposit guaranty system, Senator Robert L. Owen of Oklahoma has prepared for the United Press the following statement of the effect of the decision Tuesday of the United States supreme court establishing the constitutionality of the guaranty laws of Oklahoma, Kansas and Nebraska.

"The decision of the supreme court of the United States on the deposit guaranty law of Oklahoma, Kansas and Nebraska was very gratifying to me. Those who opposed this law guaranteeing the safety of bank deposits did so on the theory that to compel each bank to contribute for the safety of the deposits of another was taking property without due process of law.

The supreme court properly held this argument invalid. And the Oklahoma position was confirmed as good law.

The Oklahoma opinion is that banking is a business, that the banker invites the public to deposit his money and that the state in leasing a charter places the proper safeguard about the banker to protect the public as well as the banker.

In Oklahoma we believe that the banker who demands security for money he lends to the public and the cheapest form of insurance is the guarantee fund, contributed by the banks in proportion to the deposits, and which practically gives insurance at absolute cost and this cost is almost a negligible quantity.

The fact is that the banks contributing this insurance fund have had their deposits so greatly increased by the additional safety offered that it has been very profitable to them as a commercial and financial proposition. The increased deposits earning many times the cost of the small contribution to the guarantee fund—the deposits of the state banks being nearly three times what they were three years ago, thus multiplying the earning power of the banks.

Twelve years ago I urged the guarantee of bank deposits, not so much for the benefit of the banks, or for the benefit of the depositors as for the stability of commerce—the prevention of panic.

Financial panic is largely due to the timidity of a certain class of depositors who upon the least alarm in the public press secretly withdraw deposits for hoarding.

Taking the banking and trust companies as a whole, their deposits will average ten times their total cash so if five per cent of the deposits should suddenly take out of the banks one half of their cash and when the

INSURGENTS YIELD IN THE IOWA FIGHT

No Nominations For United States
Senator To Be Made at Today's Conference.

Des Moines, Iowa, Jan. 7.—The insurgents yielded to the demands of the standpaters that the caucus today should take up organization, only. It is understood if an attempt be made to nominate a candidate for United States senator, the standpaters will not be bound by any action taken.

Fourteen standpaters walked out the senate caucus today when Senator Van Lan of Marshalltown, an insurgent, moved the caucus name a caucus committee. The standpaters claimed the motion was in violation of the agreement that the caucus deal solely with the senate organization and no action be taken on the United States senatorship question.

After the standpaters walked out, the insurgent remaining named a caucus committee. The standpaters claim that under the agreement they are not bound by this motion and will attend no more caucuses.

The house caucus has been changed to 2:30 this afternoon. A written agreement has been signed by both factions that the caucus will not take up the United States senatorship, the state binder twin plant or the state printer.

It appears that Paul Stillman of Jefferson will be chosen speaker without opposition.

Paul Stillman, insurgent of Green county, an editor, was chosen speaker of the Iowa house, the republican caucus being participated in by standpaters and insurgents this afternoon.

PINCHOT ATTACKED SPECIAL INTERESTS IN MADISON SPEECH

Large Audience Heard Pinchot's Address on "The Advance" Last Evening—Tribute to La Follette.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Madison, Wis., Jan. 7.—An audience that filled the university gymnasium listened to Gifford Pinchot's address on "The Advance" last night. Assembly hall proved far too small and the great crowd was sent over to the university. There despite the hall was not and devoid of chairs, they swarmed in a great circle around the hanging balcony. Some lurched in chairs and made themselves comfortable; the rest stood up during the hour's speaking. A few more adventurous roosted high up on the steel girders and came down via the ropes.

Mr. Pinchot was introduced by President Charles R. Van Hise, who paid a warm tribute to the former chief forester for his work for conservation and as a true servant of the people. After Mr. Pinchot's address, Governor McGovern, who sat in the balcony with the speaker, spoke briefly, lauding the guest of honor's work for conservation and his plan for a better government of this country. Each of the three speakers was received with enthusiasm.

The vigor with which Mr. Pinchot attacked the "special interests" of the country and touched upon certain political conditions seemed to win the approval of the crowd. Incidentally he came out with a frank and official tribute to Wisconsin's senator, La Follette.

"The one enemy we must fight," he said, "is the political power of the special interests. The University of Wisconsin is famous for one thing above all others put together—its fight for truth and the rights of the people. It is with great pleasure that I speak here of the great fight on the part of the people of your Senator Robert M. La Follette." (Applause, cheers and a skyrocket.) "I'm glad you cheer him, because if over a man deserved it he does. He was fought with all the power and ingenuity of the corporate interests of this nation, but he kept coming back until he won. He led the fight for the rest of us."

After Mr. Pinchot had been introduced by President Van Hise, he was met with a vociferous skyrocket. Responding he said:

"I am a graduate of Yale and also an honorary graduate of Princeton, but that the bloom of youth is very much like that of my second alma mater, and it sounds awfully good to me tonight. I thank you."

He said he deeply appreciated such an audience in such a town, and his being introduced by such a man as President Van Hise, "whose service to this great cause of conservation," he added, "is not to be easily measured or overpraised."

"This state university," he continued, "stands first among all the state universities in the country, and President Van Hise stands first among all the presidents of the country for usefulness, high-mindedness and devotion to the cause of the people. During the last ten years I have been fortunate in being associated with him in conservation work and his aid has been of the most valuable possible kind."

Mr. Pinchot's address was devoted to a discussion of the aims of the forestry service in conserving the resources of the nation, with pointed references to the constant difficulties which he said had been met with special interests. His first forward step, he said, was in getting the wood growers of the far west to come to terms.

"We determined in the case of the sheep men," he said, "upon this principle and its enforcement—that if many many take property from the government they must pay for it. That with the sheep men also determined that so far as the forestry service is concerned we had rather help the small man make a living than the rich man to make a profit."

"There came another fight. We found the government had been in the habit of giving away one of its most valuable possessions—its great water-powers. It never before demanded payment for these rights. We finally managed to get some legislation through, after we found we had the right to make any man who took advantage of the national forest pay for it. When the forest service undertook to make the waterpower interests come to terms, we learned that it had struck an interest with unprincipled men in New York."

"I still speak as if I were a member of the forest service. In fact, some of my friends insist on speaking of my 'resignation' from that service. (Laughter.) I still feel that I belong to it."

Mr. Pinchot said that wherever the pecuniary advantage of somebody was concerned, there the forest service met its obstacles, and that the advance had always found its chief obstacle when it ran counter to some special interest. He referred briefly to the Cunningham coal claims in Alaska.

"Everywhere and always," he said, "the opposition of the special interests stands in the way. It was the case in the fight for railway regulation; it is true of the forward movement everywhere. But at last the time is here when we now know who we have to stop these things that work directly against the welfare of the people of this nation."

PRESIDENT TO BE CHOSEN IN REPUBLIC OF ECUADOR

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Guayaquil, Jan. 7.—A president of the republic is to be chosen at the general elections in Ecuador tomorrow. The leading candidates for the presidency are Alfredo Baquerizo Moreno, the choice of the liberals, and Emilio Estrada, who has the support of the administration.

LEGISLATURE HAS IMPORTANT WORK

NEW LEGISLATURE AND OFFICERS
TAKE THE HELM IN WISCONSIN

ALONG PROGRESSIVE LINES

Re-Election of Senator Robert M. La
Follette and Economical Administration of Affairs Expected.

Madison, Wis., Jan. 7.—Considerable important legislation along progressive lines, the re-election of United States Senator Robert M. La Follette of Madison for a term of six years and an economical, business-like administration of state affairs are the principal things to be expected of the new legislature and new state officers about to take the helm in Wisconsin.

As the progressive Republicans have a good working majority in both houses of the legislature, there seems to be little doubt that Senator La Follette will be re-elected on the first ballot and that much of the state legislation which he has contended for during the last decade will be enacted. As all the new state officers, except the attorney general, Judge Levi H. Bancroft, are progressive Republicans, the reform legislation passed will be enforced in the spirit with which it is enacted.

The new state officers who took the oath of office administered by Chief Justice J. B. Winslow of the state supreme court, on Jan. 2, are as follows: Governor, F. M. McGovern, Milwaukee; Lieut. Gov., Thomas Morris, La Crosse; Secretary of State, James A. Foner, Hudson; State Treasurer, A. H. Dahl, Wausau; Attorney General, Judge Levi H. Bancroft, Richland Center; State Insurance Commissioner, Herman L. Ekern, Whitehall.

While all of the above with the exception of Attorney General Bancroft are progressive Republicans, it is stated by progressives in close touch with Senator La Follette, Gov. McGovern is not regarded as in direct sympathy with this branch of the party. No effort is made on the part of Bancroft to conceal his hostility toward La Follette, whom he once placed in nomination for governor. He, however, declares he favors most of the progressive Republican legislation proposed for the coming session.

The new legislature will convene at 12:00 o'clock, noon, Wednesday, Jan. 11 and proceed to organize by electing the list of officers selected at the Republican party caucus, the preceding evening.

Already, the progressive Republican state is practically organized, and it is believed that it will go through without much contest. In the lower house of assembly, Charles A. Ingram of Durand, a veteran legislator and floor leader of the progressive Republicans, last session, is listed for speaker. C. Edward Shaffer of Madison, who has been chief clerk of the assembly for two years, will doubtless be re-elected, as will William B. Irvine of Greenwood, probably remained as sergeant-at-arms.

In the senate Lieut. Gov. Norris will be the presiding officer by reason of his constitutional prerogative. Geo. M. Wylie of Madison will probably be re-elected chief clerk of the senate, and Charles Leitch of New London, appears to be slated for sergeant-at-arms.

With the exception of the positions mentioned, the clerkships and minor positions are under state civil service and are filled from lists of eligibles who have qualified under the merit law.

Legislative sessions in Wisconsin usually run from one hundred to one hundred and thirty days. The coming session will probably be short, as the Republican leaders have promised an adjournment as soon as reasonably can be expected.

It is reasonably certain that the progressive Republican leaders will especially exert themselves to see that the pledges of the platform adopted by the party at the legislative convention September 8, are carried out in this session. There may be investigation into the expenditure of $114,000 by the so-called "Conner" Republican State committee prior to the primary election in September. As the records of this committee were directed principally to produce the nomination of men for the legislature who would vote against the re-election of Senator La Follette, it is alleged, the progressive Republicans, it is stated, desire to know where the money came from and whom it went, or to be exact, the names of the men who finally got it. A dozen special legislative committees will be appointed by the legislature two years ago to investigate matters of proposed legislation are ready to submit their reports and recommendations. These reports and recommendations will, it is expected, command considerable time for deliberation and action.

Included in the menu of legislation that will come up at the session, the most important measure now in sight are as follows:

A system of industrial insurance or compensation for workmen injured or killed in the course of their employment.

A graduated income tax.

An effective corrupt practices act limiting the amount of money that may lawfully be spent for campaign purposes and publication of detailed financial statements of candidates for public office.

An amendment to the primary election law which will secure majority nominations by enabling the voter to express his second choice.

A constitutional amendment providing for the initiative, referendum and recall.

Complete home rule for cities, especially Milwaukee.

State aid for the construction of highways.

Control and taxation of water powers.

HALL & HUEBEL

In Mexican Cemeteries.
Guernajato, in Mexico, has a municipal cemetery, with accompanying hall of mummified horrors. These catacombs are simply tiers of masonry pigeonholes, divided like the letter boxes in our postoffices, only, say, seven feet in depth and eighteen inches in width and height. The coffin in each case is slid in and the front sealed up with a slab of marble duly inscribed. The interiors of the first class cost 100 pesos and give the corpse permanent tenure, while those of the second class cost twenty-five pesos and carry only a five-year occupancy, after which the caddy hole is cleared out and rented to another tenant.—Victor Rosewater in Louisa's.

GRAND DISPLAY OF AUTOS IN NEW YORK

Greatest Exhibition of Cars and Accessories Opens Tonight in Madison Square Garden.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
New York, Jan. 7.—Interest in automobile circles has shifted from the Grand Central Palace, where the international show of the independent dealers came to an end today, to Madison Square Garden, where the eleventh national show of the Association of Licensed Automobile Manufacturers opens tonight. For the next two weeks the center of American motordom will be located in the big building in Madison Square, from the top of which the scantily dressed Diana will look down upon the greatest exhibition of automobiles and automobile accessories ever assembled in America.

Eighty-three distinct makes of motor cars, representing both the home and foreign products, are represented at the national show this year. For purposes of convenience the show this year has been divided into two parts, the first week being devoted exclusively to passenger or pleasure vehicles, and the second week to commercial cars, electric vehicles and motor cycles. This arrangement was found expedient in view of the record-breaking number of entries in all departments.

FORMER JANESVILLE MAN TAKES DINING CAR RUN

William Angel, Who Was Clerk At Both the Myers and Grand Hotel, Takes McClure's Dining Car Run.

William Angel, formerly clerk at both the Myers and Grand hotels in this city, made his first trip as dining car conductor in charge of the Northwestern's famous diner which leaves Chicago at 6:35 each night and returns on the early morning train the next day, this week. This is the car Harry McClure formerly had charge of and is considered the finest diner on the entire Northwestern system.

OBITUARY.

Mrs. Blanche Corbell Bennett.
The remains of the late Mrs. Blanche Corbell Bennett arrived here this morning shortly before twelve o'clock and were conducted immediately to the Oak Hill chapel where they will be interred. The funeral services were performed by Rev. T. D. Williams officiating. Mrs. Bennett was a sister of Mrs. J. C. Williams, who died in Chicago, and Mrs. J. C. Williams, who died in Chicago, and Mrs. J. C. Williams, who died in Chicago.

Mrs. George Swan.
Clinton, Jan. 7.—A telegram received this morning announced the death of Mrs. George Swan of Seattle, Wash. Mrs. Swan was formerly Miss E. Korn of Madison, a sister of Insurance Commissioner Ekers, and of Mrs. James Vinegar of this place. Mr. Swan's mother lived here for Seattle, Tuesday morning.

Mrs. Samuel Wallis.
The remains of Mrs. Samuel Wallis, who died in Chicago yesterday, will reach Janesville at noon tomorrow and will be taken directly to the Oak Hill cemetery vault. Later in the spring the burial services will be held, with all probability at the Center church. Mrs. Wallis leaves three sons to mourn her loss—Obid and Henry of Chicago and Thomas of this city, and one daughter, Mrs. Uchols of Chicago. H. F. Nott of this city was a nephew and Mrs. W. J. Bates and Miss Rita Nott were nieces. A brother, Frank Dunn, lives at Janesville.

Wm. Meyer.
Funeral services for the late William Meyer, who passed away yesterday afternoon, will be held from the home Tuesday afternoon, at half past one o'clock.

The Sausage.
The sausage dates back to the year 807. It has been asserted that the Greeks in the days of Homer manufactured sausages, but this prehistoric mixture had nothing in common with our modern product. The ancient so-called sausage was composed of the same materials which enter into the makeup of the boudin of the French market and the blood pudding of the French Canadian. The ancient sausage was developed in the stomachs of goats. It was not until the tenth century that sausage made of hatched pork became known. It was in or near the year 1500 that, thanks to the introduction into Germany of cinnamon and nutmeg, the sausages of Frankfurt and Strasburg acquired a universal reputation.

Insect Contrivance.
As Dr. Darwin was walking one day in his garden he perceived a wasp upon the gravel walk with a large fly nearly as big as itself which it had caught. Kneeling down, he distinctly saw it cut off the head and abdomen and then, taking up with its feet the trunk or middle portion of the body, to which the wings remained attached, fly away. But a breeze of wind, acting on the wings of the fly, turned round the wasp with its burden and impeded its progress. Upon this it alighted again on the gravel walk, deliberately sawed off first one wing and then the other and, having thus removed the cause of its embarrassment, flew off with its booty.

Barometer of Trade.
Smiles irradiated the floorwalker's face. Business had been poor, but it was picking up for that day. How did he know? Women were shopping in pairs and trios. "They always buy so much more," he said, "when they come in bunches. When a woman shops alone she buys only what she needs or can afford, but when she shops with friends she buys what she wants them to think she can afford."

ANNUAL REPORT OF FISH COMMISSION

Advocates A General License For Fishing With Proceeds Devoted To Planting Fry In Streams.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Madison, Wis., Jan. 7.—A general license of $1.00 for fishing, the proceeds to be devoted to more extensive planting of fry in the lakes and rivers of the state, is the recommendation of Supt. James Nevin of the Wisconsin fish commission, and adopted as part of the biennial report of that body, which has just been made public. "There is no doubt," says the board, "that the proper maintenance of the fisheries will in the future demand the combined efforts of the state and of the interests concerned. It is certainly not unjust that the latter should bear at least a part of the cost."

Such of Supt. Nevin's report is devoted to a detailed description of the work done during the past two years at the various hatcheries, which are situated at Madison, Minneca, Wild Rose, Bayfield, Delfield and Oshkosh. All are flourishing, except that the Madison hatchery, which was the first one built, and which has become no longer useful in the propagation of brook trout owing to the scarcity of water. In the future this hatchery will be used for rainbow trout exclusively. Several of the ponds at this hatchery also are in a bad state of decay, and Supt. Nevin believes they should be rebuilt or reinforced with concrete.

Urges General License.
In urging the general license for all fishermen, whether resident or non-resident, Mr. Nevin believes he offers the solution of the difficulty of collecting the $1.00 fee now demanded from all non-residents who fish in Wisconsin. Last year the fish commission secured $5,328 from non-resident licensees, which is half of the total. It is evident, the superintendent declares, that a large number have evaded payment of the license, and he believes that compelling all persons who fish with a hook and line to pay this license the funds to pay for the protection and propagation of fish will be benefited to a degree commensurate with their needs and no hardship will result. "The fishermen of the state should be willing to pay their share toward the maintenance of fish hatcheries, for the game warden department in the enforcement of the fish laws," says Mr. Nevin. "Neither is the state expending any money to increase the supply of game, whereas all funds credited to the fish commission are expended in maintaining and increasing our supply of fish. Every dollar that is expended in fish culture comes back to us a hundred-fold."

Mr. Nevin's plan is to create a special fund of the fish commission's share of the license moneys, to be used for the exclusive establishment and maintenance of fish hatcheries, or substations. These stations would be located close to places where three to six lakes are found within a radius of fifty miles, and their product be used to stock those lakes only.

Queen Helena Celebrated Thirty-eighth Anniversary of Birth at Palace Where Royal Couple Are Spending Winter.
[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Rome, Jan. 7.—The royal family has made no preparations to celebrate the 38th birthday anniversary of Queen Helena tomorrow, though the people throughout the kingdom will observe the day as usual with much popular rejoicing. The king and queen are spending the winter quietly at the Quirinal, where a visit from the stork is expected in the early spring.

FAMOUS LONDON ARTIST SEVENTY-FIVE YEARS OLD

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
London, Jan. 7.—Sir Lawrence Alma-Tadema, the world famous painter, will reach his seventy-fifth birthday anniversary tomorrow and plans are being made by his many friends and admirers in art circles for a suitable testimonial observance. Since the death of his wife a year ago Sir Lawrence has spent much of his time on the continent, though still maintaining his famous home in St. John's Wood. Recently he has given much of his time to promoting the issue of Dickens testimonial stamps in England.

Plays on Bicycle Pump.

A Goddaling working man named Oliver has discovered that an ordinary bicycle pump can be converted into a musical instrument. He took part recently in a concert at Goddaling and gave bicycle-pump selections, including "Kilnarnoy," "The Holy City" and "The Dear Homeland." The instrument sounds like a cross between a flute and a trombone and the method of playing it suggests both instruments.

Sheep Flocks Diminishing.

Because sheep need such extensive ranges in order to get enough to eat, sheep flocks are uniformly diminishing in all countries, even in Argentina, where sheep farming was believed to be one of the best sources of wealth for an indefinite time. Only in districts where the immense area of pasture land is out of proportion to the hands available for tilling it can sheep be kept at a profit.

COLORED FIGHTERS TO SCRAP TUESDAY

Sam Langford and Joe Jeannette To Meet Twelve Round Bout In Boston.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Boston, Mass., Jan. 7.—The two big black heavyweights, Sam Langford and Joe Jeannette, are under agreement to come together for a 12-round bout before the Armory A. A. in this city at its weekly show Tuesday night. Since Jeannette received his last beating from Langford he has side-stepped several opportunities to face the "Tar Baby" again, but his manager has assured the club that he will be on hand for the coming bout. A decisive contest between Langford and Jeannette is awaited with considerable interest in sporting circles, for the reason that the winner will probably be matched sooner or later to fight Jack Johnson for the championship.

Policy No. 1915

ON THE

10-Payment Life, Participating Plan

Mr. _____ of Janesville, Wisconsin, insured in the Northwestern Mutual, April 26th, 1862, on the Ten-Payment Life Plan for $1,000, at age 25, with an annual premium of $42.82.

The results under this policy up to and including 1910 may be summarized as follows:

10 Annual premiums paid.....	$428.20
Dividends paid (including dividend due in April if policy is retained in force)...	$405.70
Excess of dividends over premiums paid.....	$ 37.50
Had Mr. _____ taken this insurance on the non-participating plan he would have paid 19 Premiums of about $34.00 each or a total of.....	$340.00

His life insurance investment would have stood at that figure, while under the participating policy of the Northwestern a sum greater than his total investment has already been returned to him.

The above is worthy of your consideration whether you have any insurance or not. It demonstrates beyond a doubt that the Northwestern is the largest dividend payer in the country and it also shows that for the young men who wish to provide for old age that a Northwestern policy is the best and easiest way of doing so. The name of the above policy holder will be given on request.

There are a lot of things every man should know about life insurance. Come in and talk it over.

EDGERTON CITIZEN WAS LAID AT REST WEDNESDAY

Lars H. Telesberg, Well Known in Edgerton and Vicinity, Buried Wednesday—Local News.

Edgerton, Jan. 7.—The funeral of Lars H. Telesberg, who died on the 2nd inst., was held Wednesday afternoon at the Norwegian Lutheran church, conducted by Rev. J. Linnestad.

Mr. Telesberg was born in the town of Pleasant Springs, Dane county, September 5, 1846. In 1880 he was married to Anna Linnestad. For a number of years they resided in Alhion township where he owned and conducted a farm. Disposing of his farm there he moved with his family to Edgerton in 1903 and engaged in the meat and grocery business, a vocation which he followed up to within a short time of his death. The immediate cause of his death is tuberculosis, with which he was afflicted for the past year. Besides the widow three children survive; also two brothers, Knut and Andrew Telesberg of Liberty Prairie, and a sister, Miss Helen Telesberg of Chicago, all of whom were present at the funeral.

RAT TRAP CATCHES CHINESE

Concealed Oriental Stowaway's Fondness for Rice Proves His Undoing on Ocean Liner.

New York.—Catching Chinese stowaways with rat traps set in rice boxes is the newest diversion of the crew of the liner Nicolas Kunes, which has just sailed for Jamaica with a captive aboard.

The captive is Ching Sin, who belongs in Port Anthony, Jamaica. He stowed himself away on board the Kunes on September 27. If Ching had let the rice in the ship's storeroom alone, he might have been able to get to New York safely. But the cook noticed the rice disappearing rapidly and set a trap to catch the rats he supposed were the thieves.

The next time Ching dipped his hand in the box to get his stowaway rations there was a snap and a few minutes later the cook found Ching a captive. He was put in irons and will be turned over to the British authorities in Jamaica.

"Conscience Fund" Grows.

New York.—The "conscience fund" at the custom house, known officially as "duties from unknown hands," has been increased by the receipt of $15 in Canadian notes. They came in an envelope postmarked Victoria, B. C., with an unsigned letter reading:

"When entering the United States awhile ago, I did not pay duty on some things."

The custom house ordinarily does not accept Canadian money, but has made an exception in this case.

$8,083.88 Immigration Dues.

London.—A return just issued shows that from May to the end of August this year 404,443 persons were landed at Douglas, Isle of Man, on whom the Manx harbor board levied a disembarkation and embarkation fee of two cents per head.

Gambetta's Lost Eye.

Gambetta, the French patriot, had but one eye. How he came to lose the other in childhood is told by a writer: "It appears that Gambetta had such a dislike to going to school that he said to his father that unless he were taken from school he would poke one of his eyes out. His father insisted on his remaining on at school, whereupon Gambetta did as he had threatened to do, and on his father remonstrating with him he said that if his father sent him back again to school he would poke the other eye out. Such a determined character was he that his father had finally to give way to him."

He Deserved the Watch.

A little boy who had been promised a watch in a too indefinite future showed a tendency to revert to the subject with a frequency which finally overcame the patience of his father. "If you say 'watch' again in my presence I'll thrash you!" was the ultimatum. Next morning at prayers, when each member of the family offered a little verse, the boy demurely gave his as he fixed his parent with his eyes and repeated, "What I say unto you I say unto all, Watch!"

A Woman's Face.

No words can express the almost divine love and tenderness and the perfect trust and happiness of that girl wife's face as she looked into the eyes of her husband—and smiled. Other holiday impressions may grow dim and fade away, but that sweet woman's face remains stamped on my memory forever.—Wynne in London Reader.

Ungrammatical Justice.

"Prisoner at the bar," said the magistrate, "for the crime of overspeaking you will pay a fine of $10 or be took to jail for ten days."

"That's not a correct sentence," murmured the prisoner.—Philadelphia Ledger.

Anxiety never yet successfully bridled over any chain.—Ruffin.

It pays to read the ads.

Claims and Realities

It is a fact known to every newspaper reader that nearly all piano advertisements make practically the same claims.

No more can be said for the instrument of artistic merit than is said daily for many pianos of mediocre or inferior quality.

If the statements with which the merits of many low grade pianos are exploited were true there would be no sense in paying the price asked for those of reputation and demonstrated value.

But every person of intelligence knows that there is a difference in the musical and constructive qualities of various instruments. For that reason, what ever may be the reputation, one cannot expect to get a fine piano at a price which would be fair for one of only ordinary merit, although in any case the buyer should get his money's worth.

In justice to our patrons we draw the distinction very closely between the different grades. We have high priced pianos and also pianos marked at very moderate figures.

Each of these is represented for exactly what it is and it is marked at no more than its actual value.

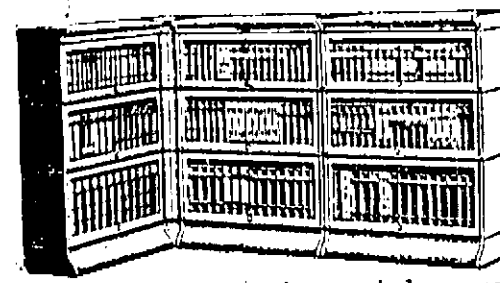

We invite prospective purchasers to visit our new salesrooms and satisfy themselves of the values we offer.

equalizer—smooth running, noiseless, non-binding and removable.

Doors air cushioned, which prevents slamming and breaking of glass.

Each section fits accurately—no unsightly metal bands spoil the artistic appearance.

Made of finest selected seasoned woods to match the wood-work or finish of the room.

The Doors Drop
as if on Velvet

The disappearing doors of the Viking Sectional Bookcase run in frictionless steel guides. They are also air cushioned to prevent the least noise in closing. A Viking door literally drops as noiselessly as if on velvet—there is no rattling, sticking or binding when you raise it—and you can instantly raise it—and you can instantly remove the door without taking down the sections or disturbing the books.

The Viking Bookcases are built to hand down from one generation to another. Comes in any of the classic styles—in plain or quarter sawed oak, in golden oak or mission finish, mahogany or imitation mahogany, with plain or leaded glass. See the Vikings on our floor.

Start with one section and increase as you need to. The cost is small.

OUR SATURDAY NIGHT.

"Just stand aside and watch yourself go by."
Think of yourself as 'he' instead of 'I'. Note, closely as in other men you note, The bag-kneed trousers and the seedy coat.
Pick flaws; find fault; forget the man is you.
And strive to make your estimate ring true!
Confront yourself and look you in the eye—
Just stand aside and watch yourself go by.
"Interpret all your motives just as though You looked on one whose aims you did not know.
Let undiluted contempt surge through you when You see, you shrink, O comitronest of men!
Despise your cowardice; condemn what's fair.
You note of falseness in you anywhere, Defend not one defect that shames your eye—
Just stand aside and watch yourself go by.
And then, with eyes unvoiled to what you loathe—
To sins that with sweet charity you'd clothe—
Back to your self-walled tenements you'll go.
With tolerance for all who dwell below,
The faults of others then will dwarf and shrink.
Love's chain grown stronger by one mighty link—
When you, with 'he' as substitute for 'I', Have stood aside and watched yourself go by."
—S. W. Gilman, in Pemberton Engineer.

"The year is yet so young, that this bit of homely suggestion, so tersely stated, is worth considering. We are slow to recognize the fact that the person with whom we are the least acquainted is ourselves, and the least it is true to the latter."
"We like to stand on a pedestal erected by our own egotism and criticise the procession as it passes by, and then, with our cloak of self-righteousness wrapped more closely about us, thank God that we are not like the common herd."
"This spirit of conceit, if not inherited, develops very early in the race. The boy of half a dozen years likes to show his playmates what he can do, but is usually too busy to watch their performances, and his sister is frequently inspired with a like ambition.

As time advances, some of these corners are knocked off, when the boy and girl comes in contact with schoolmates, and later with the throng which scrambles for a foothold in the busy arena of active life, yet in spite of all the polishing, some of the corners remain, and they are more ornamental than useful.
It has always been a mystery that in the crowds which travel up and down the highways and by-ways, no two faces are found which resemble each other to any great extent.
Stand on the corner of a busy street for an hour, watching for a friend and you glance at a thousand people, dressed very much alike, but the familiar face is lacking, and yet observation teaches that people are so much alike that they resolve themselves into two or three classes.
The same sort of minds, with great or less equipment, the same kind of hearts, influenced by varying impulses, and a universal tongue, hung in the middle, which usually wags on the slightest provocation.
The head, the heart and the tongue, are the three things which humanity possesses as a common inheritance and they are the organs which make the race akin. The tongue is an irresponsible member and the cause of an endless amount of trouble.
It is said of some people that they possess intuitive knowledge. Their minds are so alert, that they grasp a thought before it is fairly outlined. This is a rare gift and a valuable asset to the possessor.
An ordinary tongue is equipped with the same intuitive faculty. It grasps a thought before it is fairly formed and gives expression without knowledge, and with little regard to consequences.
It is the one organ which never hesitates to express an opinion on any topic, and the evidence is frequently but the continuance of an echo.
To woman is credited the tongue of gossip but the harm she does with idle talk is all compared to the tongue of vituperation and slander, never more pronounced in this fair land, than at the present time.
The principal stock in trade of many of the present day reformers is a tongue which hesitates at nothing. Men in public life are portrayed as specimens of depravity. The Cannons and Adiracks are held up to public scorn as villains of the darkest hue. Corporations are rotten to the core, and captains of industry are a set of pirates who should be permitted to navigate the high seas of commerce.
The United States senate is a hotbed of corruption, principally engaged in whitewashing members who are under a cloud, and all to gratify the ambition of a lot of "holier than thou" Moscoses who aspire to dictatorship.
Every careful business man takes account of stock once a year to discover where he is at financially. The inventory of a life is equally important, and the suggestion to "stand aside and watch yourself go by," is a timely suggestion.
The things which make or mar destiny are not so much equipment or opportunity as habits of life and thought, and we are so largely creatures of habit that it soon becomes a controlling force.
The people who have passed middle life and are journeying on the shady side, come from a generation who formed the habit of commencing the day's work at "sun-up," and the habit of early rising clings to them.
The farmer who takes up his residence in town is out of bed and has his breakfast before daylight, at this season of the year, and is surprised to learn that the saloon is the only shop ready for business when the seven o'clock whistle blows.
He goes to bed at 8 o'clock and wonders how his neighbors can play bridge, go to the theatre, and hang out until midnight, and retain health and moral character. He is a victim of habit, and a pretty wholesome habit it that.
The man who swears does not necessarily have an evil heart; he may have practiced the art so long as to use it unconsciously, and his vocabulary may be so limited that any other form of expression is beyond him.
He violates the moral code without knowing it; but put him in a company of people whose language is free from profanity and in a week's time he has ceased to be profane. The environments of life are largely responsible for some of our habits, and it is always well to get away from bad environments.
If we observe ourselves closely, as we pass by, the atmosphere will not be disturbed by an oath, for men seldom swear alone, but we may notice some defects which have long been painfully apparent to other people.
The face which looks back to us from the glass is not quite so frank and open as it used to be. The glance of the eye is a little shifty and tells the story of deceit and perhaps of dissipation. We may have been honest enough to pass muster on the street but not quite honest with ourselves.
The step is not so firm and buoyant as it was a year ago, and we find that the laws of health have been violated in the rapid pace which we have led.
The assets of life to the man on the downward slope, are always vanishing, so far as physical strength is concerned, and his moral character is not likely to be changed, but to the young man, these assets should be cumulative, and every year should show a substantial increase.
Many young men complain because of lack of capital, but every young man is a capitalist, possessing possibilities far beyond the earning power of money.
The $600 salary represents an investment of $10,000 at six per cent. The chance to double and treble the income is with the boy who furnishes the brain and muscle, and he can make good if he will, but the chance to add to the $10,000 if he had it, is very remote, until he has learned its value, and this sort of knowledge is of slow growth.

A careful inventory of every life will disclose some weak points which will never be strengthened, except through personal effort. Someone said, at one time, that "the only rational study of human nature is what we find out about ourselves," and the statement is true. The study is not always pleasant, but never unprofitable.
"Defend not one defect that shames your eye—
Just stand aside and watch yourself go by."

Uncle Walt THE POET PHILOSOPHER

(Copyright, 1909, by George Matthew Adams.)

By WALT MASON.

Today I went to Jimson's store to buy a sugar-coated pill. This Mr. Jimson is a hero, whose tongue out-clacks a coffee mill. All sorts of language then he tossed and handled in his dialect hunt, for he was bound at any cost to get my business.
THE SALESMAN said me things I didn't want. "I've just received a splendid line of setting hens and spaniel pups, and safety spoons and bidding twine, and home-made prunes and china cups," I am," I said, "in frozen haste, so don't detain me, I implore." But Jimson grabbed me round the waist, and dragged me round his junk store, and showed me divers kinds of junk, and filled me with his prices full, and everything I saw was punk, and I was stuffed with a bill. I bought an old stuffed crocodile, for which I paid an iron yon, the which he added to his pile, and smiled and said: "Pray, come again!" I'll go again when pigs have horns, and not before, you bet your hat; my stately form no more, before a blundered old robber's roost like that. I've always thought that merchants make an error when their goods they flout, thinking that their patrons take a lot of stuff they do not want.
A Warning to Burglars.
We used to be afraid of burglars, but since learning that also robbers were lately committed by a nigger boy eleven years old we've lost our fear of burglars; if we ever hear a burglar in our room we'll slap him and send him home.—Atchison Globe.

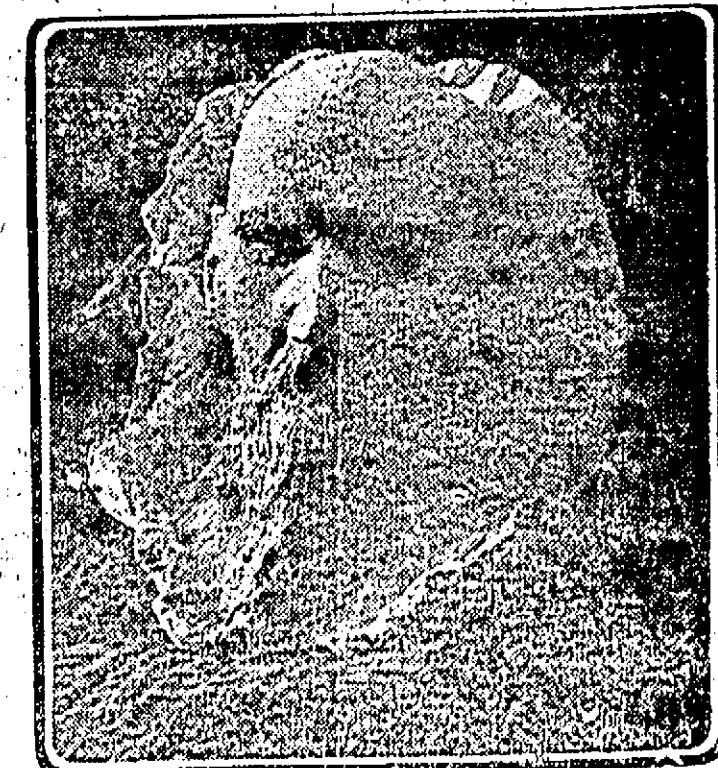

What tree?

Heart to Heart Talks.

By EDWIN A. NYE.

TWO WOMEN.

I would rather be
In the shade of a tree
With a rose and a handful of daisies
Than be the darling of victory
Mid the bay of the rabble's praises.
I have read these words from an interview with the grand opera singer Mme. Cavalleri:
"I have everything that life has to offer. My every rule and standard of the world I should have been happy. But the only happiness I have known has been in anticipation—in anticipation of the things I expected to bring happiness—and did not."
As I read the interview I thought of an expression by the wife of my milkman, who happened to be on her husband's wagon the other morning.
In the course of a brief conversation she said:
"Oh, John and I and the children have been very happy. We have all been quite well, and we enjoy life." And she looked it.
There is Cavalleri, young, in the flush of health, called by some the most beautiful woman in the world, talented, rich—and unhappy.
And here is my milkman's wife, also young, healthy, good to look at, working hard every day and having few luxuries—but happy.
Cavalleri well says that according to the rules and standards of her world she ought to be happy.
Has it ever occurred to her that possibly the standards of her world may be wrong?
In other words, can externals give happiness?
There may be something vitally wrong within Cavalleri's self that has kept her from happiness.
What is it? I do not know. I might guess at it. But here is the lesson:
"Sometimes we who are neither talented nor rich nor beautiful nor famous find ourselves wishing we might be possessed of all these things—and be supremely happy!
It seems we are mistaken. Old Omar discarded all these things to say:
A look of verse underneath the thigh,
A jug of wine, a loaf of bread—and thou
Beside me singing in the wilderness—
Oh, wilderness were paradise to me."
Maybe Cavalleri lacks what the milkman's wife certainly has—love—love for John and the children.
Anyway, it is certain that the old book is right when it says that "a man's life consists not in the abundance of things that he possesseth."
An Asset of Loveliness.
Perhaps with a keener perception of the charming things in life than if he had not been, sightless, Milton says in "Paradise Lost": "Nothing lovelier can be found in woman than to study household good."
Slipped on Ice-Walk: Tom Johnson slipped on an icy walk on River street this afternoon and suffered bruises about the head. His condition was at first thought serious and he was taken to the city hall, but nothing worse than a scalp wound was found.

Benedict Arnold's Last Wish.
A New York public school teacher recently asked a pupil in her United States history class to describe the death and repentance of Benedict Arnold. She was somewhat astonished when the child, in whose mind American, British, Union and Confederate soldiers were pretty well mixed, replied: "He begged to be allowed to die in a Union suit."

WEIRICK MATTER BOTHERED BOARDROOSEVELT "SHORTER AND UGLIER" OUTDONE BY MEMBERS IN DISCUSSION.*SUIT TO BE STARTED SOON*Other Matters Of Importance Handled By the Members in Their Sessions Today.

Not even the Ghost of Banquo, ever called as much excitement in the state of history as has the Weirick matter done to stir up the county board. Coming as it does as a climax to the long months of contention between the county board and the former register of deeds, which ended in such a decisive victory for Mr. Weirick by the Supreme Court decision, it has caused unusual attention to be paid to it.

That Mr. Weirick has acted upon legal advice and believes he is within the terms of the law, is most certain and the outcome of any suit that may be brought will be watched with interest. Dane County has a similar suit pending and on the preliminary hearings the register has drawn first blood so that it is barely possible no action will be started here until the Dane County case is finished, so closely allied are the two suits. Meanwhile the matter comes up for daily discussion and hard words are passed between members and said against Mr. Weirick.

"Gentlemen, I did not call Mr. Weirick a thief, but I reiterate it here, and I have made the statement in the presence of Mr. Weirick's attorney and would say it to Mr. Weirick if he were here, that he is a pirate and a buccaneer." This was the statement made this morning by L. E. Gettle of the board, when after the granting of the special privileges, Simon Smith said that it had been estimated last spring that Mr. Weirick was a thief, and that he (Smith) did not believe in calling a man a thief until he was proven a thief.

Continuing Mr. Gettle said: "This is the first instance where any officer has not been satisfied with the remuneration offered by the county. It is because of this remuneration that Mr. Weirick reaches out after the fees."

The Weirick matter came up this morning when M. P. Richardson explained the position of the committee which started the previous suit against the former register of deeds and stated that the suit was not based on malice as was reported on the streets, in saloons, at the card tables and other places, where the case was tried, from the Weirick side.

S. H. Hedges and P. M. Houch took part in the discussion of the subject Mr. Hedges explaining his attitude in the matter.

"The proposition as to whether to allow a bill for travelling expenses for John Tuller for a trip to Janesville to confer with the county highway commissioner, was threshed out and finally, on motion of L. E. Gettle referred to Committee No. 6. The bill was presented by Simon Smith and was for the purpose of determining whether town chairmen were entitled to payment of railroad fare and expenses incurred when called into Janesville.

Incidentally the question was raised by M. P. Richardson as to whether the commissioner of highways should not have an automobile. C. E. Moore replied that considering the requirements of the position, the commissioner should, but he (Moore) did not know where the commissioner would get it.

A bill from Dr. Ernest Helm of Beloit for $5 for expert testimony in a trial where the prisoner was suspected of insanity, was referred by Chairman Paul to Committee No. 3, but when the committee made its report on bills, later the bill was disallowed, Judge J. W. Sale having expressed the opinion to the members of the committee that there was no statute under which it could be allowed.

County Clerk Howard W. Lee read the report of aid rendered to blind persons during the past year and J. L. Dear moved the adoption of the report and its publication as a part of the proceedings of the county board. The motion was adopted.

Formal application to the state superintendent for a permit to operate a training school for teachers in Rock County will be made by the county clerk, the board adopting a resolution directing the clerk to make the application.

Upon the completion of the plans for the new cow barn at the county farm the building committee will seek bids for the erection of the building to pass upon them, with the right of rejecting any or all, or of building the barn by day labor, if they consider that method will be cheaper. Authority for this was given in a resolution introduced by E. D. Cannon.

A bill for taking a patient to the home at Chilpewa Falls was turned over to Committee No. 13 by Chairman Paul.

Afternoon Session.

All work of the January session of the board was completed shortly before three o'clock this afternoon and the board adjourned to meet again at regular session in April. In order to get through as early as possible and allow the members to depart for their homes, the board assembled at one o'clock instead of at half past one as heretofore.

In connection with the Weirick matter this afternoon L. E. Gettle took a slightly different stand as regards commencing action against Mr. Weirick and introduced a resolution that a committee of three, comprising Simon Smith, S. H. Hedges, and J. E. McEvoy be appointed to confer with the district attorney and with Mr. Weirick to see what could be done toward affecting a settlement with Mr. Weirick and that the proposed action be postponed until after the April meeting of the board. Mr. Gettle stated that he desired, if possible, that litigation between the board and Mr. Weirick would no longer pay a bounty of ten cents for the killing of crows and hawks. M. P. Richardson offering a resolution to that effect on the grounds that the system was too expensive as nearly countless way-bounties. By his resolution all previ-

BRUNSWICK FACTORY GOES TO DUBUQUE

Northwestern Road Gave Them Land City a Big Bonus to Location There.

Dispatches from Dubuque, Iowa, announce that the Brunswick-Balke-Coller company, which had considered Janesville as a possible location for their new factory, had decided upon Dubuque. The Chicago & Northwestern railroad gave them twenty-five acres of land and the city of Dubuque seventy-five thousand dollars. The factory will be built at once and will cost $20,000 and the company agrees to employ five hundred men and make it its chief factory. The factory will be a tract of land and forty thousand dollars, while the Brunswick company wanted sixty thousand to locate here.

REVIVAL CAMPAIGN STARTS TOMORROW

Salvation Army Plans Fifty Nights of Revival Work With List of Strong Speakers.

Beginning tomorrow evening and lasting until February 26th, inclusive, the Salvation Army will hold a series of revival meetings and will conduct a spirited campaign to win converts to the cause of Christianity. Prominent speakers have been secured to address the various meetings among whom are Captain and Mrs. Myers of Beloit, Major Morton of Minneapolis, and a number of the leading ministers of this city. With victory as their watchword the members of the local Army are confident of success.

At the meeting at the Army club tomorrow evening, Capt. Simpson will deliver the address on the subject, "The Holy Spirit and Revival," and on Wednesday evening Mrs. Captain Simpson will speak on "Individual Responsibility in Revivals."

SPEAKS TOMORROW AT THE U. B. CHURCH

W. M. Bell, Of Pacific District Of United Brethren Church Here Sunday and Monday.

William M. Bell of Los Angeles, Cal., bishop of the Pacific District of the United Brethren church, and prominent in religious circles throughout the country, will speak at the U. B. church in this city tomorrow morning and evening, and will also give a lecture Monday evening. Bishop Bell is considered as one of the foremost thinkers on religious topics in the Christian church today and is an eloquent and forceful speaker. He has been ranked by some in the same class with Bryan and the late Senator Dillworth as far as impressiveness and earnestness in platform oratory is concerned. His lecture on "The American People" is a masterpiece and is the bishop's favorite theme. He will deliver this lecture at the U. B. church Monday evening.

Sought Heedful Job.

When at the Comedy theater I once received an application from a young man who desired to see me on a matter of urgent importance. I wrote him, asking to be informed as to the nature of his business. He replied that it was personal and private, but of extreme urgency, and asked for an interview. I gave him an appointment, and he called to see me, when I learned that his object was to place his services at my disposal. His doctor, he informed me, had ordered him to take a complete rest, or in any case to employ himself in some way that required absolutely no brain work! So he had decided to go upon the stage.

200 Miles an Hour.

Two hundred miles an hour is Gracie White's estimate of the speed in an airplane must attain before it will come into general commercial use. He adds that wood will have to give way to steel in airplane construction. Trains, he says, make 80 and 90 miles an hour, and the bird must do better to win commercial patronage. He adds: "It's when we get the rate of 150 or 200 miles an hour that the fun will begin. It will be perfectly possible for passengers to endure such swift movement, because they will be in a tight chamber, like a submarine boat, where they will not feel the wind."

When Corbett Beat Sullivan.

Writing in Harper's Weekly, William Inglis describes Corbett's defeat of Sullivan in the historic encounter at New Orleans 18 years ago. "I can see him yet," says this author, telling of the last phase of the meeting, after Sullivan had failed to rise. "His face was battered, swollen, and bleeding, and God knows what thoughts flashed through his mind of life wasted, of fortune squandered, of dominion wrenched from his hands; but John's great heart never wavered for an instant. He raised the thick right arm that had stricken down hundreds of warriors, and the roaring crowd fell silent. 'Gentlemen,' he rumbled, 'I have nothing at all to say. All I have to say is that I came into the ring once too often, and, if I had to get licked, I'm glad I was licked by an American. I remain your warm and personal friend, John L. Sullivan.'"

CORONER PROBES A DOUBLE SUICIDE

Mystery Surrounds Deaths of Betrothed Couple.

STRONGLY SUSPECT POISONING

Pair Were to Have Been Married on New Year's Day—Testimony Adduced at Coroners Inquest
May Implicate Sister.

Cumberland, Md., Jan. 7.—A decided sensation was caused at the coroner's inquest into the deaths of Mary Grace Blosser and Charles Edward Twigg, who were to have been married New Year's day, when Dr. W. H. Ford, the first physician to arrive on the scene, testified that May Blosser, sister of the dead girl who had fainted, showed decided symptoms of cyanide poisoning. Dr. Ford said the convulsions, mottled condition of the face, staring expression, blood tinged foam on the mouth and other symptoms in May's condition were those of poisoning.

May was revived after fifteen minutes work, and Dr. Ford said he looked about the room for a container or some other evidence of poisoning, but found none. Dr. Ford said when he entered the house, the members of the family were greatly excited, and Mrs. Blosser and her daughter May were crying. He pronounced Grace dead after an examination, and did not know of Twigg's death body being in the next room, until he was ushered in by Mr. Blosser, who said: "Just see what's in here."

Lee H. Ash of Keyser, W. Va., who worked in Twigg's store, said that Saturday when Twigg left for Cumberland, he was in a happy mood. Ash, however, said Twigg never told him he was going to get married. Mr. Ash said Mr. Twigg was not married, nor to his knowledge, was he in trouble with any woman. He said Twigg was worth about $10,000.

The testimony of Dr. Thomas K. Coon, who performed the autopsy, was that death came from some form of cyanide poisoning, probably a liquid from the effect it had on the throat and stomach. Dr. Francis B. Harrington, city health officer, who analyzed the stomach, testified that the poison used was a cyanide.

It is said that the sister of Miss Blosser is strongly suspected of the crime, she having been a former lover of the deceased man, who after a lover's quarrel transferred his affections to her sister.

U. S. ARCHITECTS CHOSEN

Men Who Will Have Charge of Erection of U. S. Buildings Named.

Washington, Jan. 7.—The $8,000,000 which the United States government has authorized for the erection of the new buildings for the department of state, justice and commerce and labor will be expended under the direction of three New York firms of architects—Arnold W. Brunner, for state; Donn Barber, for justice, and York & Sawyer for commerce and labor.

The awards to the three New York firms were made by three special juries of architects chosen from all sections of the country. In addition to the winners the juries made special mention of the plans submitted.

BABY FROZEN IN SNOW

Trip Through Fields Barefooted
May Have Fatal Results.

Little One Suffers Greatly Through Fear of Girl in Whose Charge He Was Left Acting Unwisely.

Middletown, N. Y., Jan. 7.—Traveling barefooted over ice and snow for a quarter of a mile was the awful experience of the little 3-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Elsie Cook of Trout Creek, but he may survive. Early in the morning Mr. and Mrs. Cook went to a farm a quarter of a mile away. Their children, a boy 3 years old, and a baby, were left with a 10-year-old sister of Mrs. Cook. The girl became frightened and afraid to stay alone in the house, and she threw a shawl around the baby and without waiting to put on the other child's shoes and stockings, started to carry the baby and lead his barefooted boy across the fields to the feed farm.

The little fellow had on only a thin shirt and short trousers and was soon so overcome with cold that he could go no further. The girl left him and hurried on to the farm with the baby where she informed Mr. Cook. He hurried back to where the boy had been left and found him nearly dead with both of his feet frozen fast in the ice and snow. He may live.

FRISCO BILL TO KILL RACING

IMPORTS OF 1910 OVER 200 MILLION

Shows Past Year to Have Been One of Great Prosperity.

'LUXURIES' LARGELY IMPORTED

Value of Laces and Embroideries Approximately $45,000,000—Bureau of Statistics Report Proves
Very Interesting.

New York, Jan. 7.—That the year 1910 must have been a reasonably prosperous one in the United States is indicated by the figures of importation of the class of articles usually termed "luxuries." No more satisfactory barometer of general business condition is found than the figures representing the importation of articles purely or chiefly luxuries, including diamonds and other precious stones, laces, art works, wines, tobacco and manufactures thereof and other articles of this character.

This is illustrated by a glance at the yearly record of imports as recorded by the bureau of statistics of the department of commerce and labor. In years of marked depression, 1894 and 1895, for example, the value of diamonds and other precious stones imported dropped from $16,000,000 in 1893, to $5,500,000 in 1894; $7,500,000 in 1895, and about $6,750,000 in 1896. Gradually moving upward again until 1899 and 1900, and reaching a total of $32,000,000 in 1903 and $42,000,000 in 1907. In the fiscal year 1908, a year of business depression, the total fell to $19,750,000, returning to $29,000,000 in 1909, and $48,000,000 in the fiscal year of 1910, while the figures of the calendar year will not materially differ from those of the fiscal year.

In automobiles, art works, laces, feathers, furs, wines and liquors, tobacco, decorated china ware and numerous other articles named in the list of importation, the figures of 1910 are large, and the importation of articles usually classed as "luxuries" will show a total of between $200,000,000 and $300,000,000 value. Of laces and embroideries the value imported during the year just ended, approximated $45,000,000, a very large proportion of which was cotton.

THUGS KILL HOTEL MAN

Bandits In Duluth, Minn.

Also Slay Policeman and Escape With Large Posses in Pursuit With Orders to Shoot to Kill.

Duluth, Minn., Jan. 7.—William Mazzy and Algot Johnson, bellboy and night porter of the Hotel McKay, turned bandits, killed a policeman, held up a car and later were pursued by the entire police force and possess in fast automobiles.

They held up and shot at the night clerk, bound and gagged two other men in the hotel basement and escaped with $50 belonging to the hotel. They were arrested and placed on a street car.

While being taken to the city they asked that they be allowed to go inside the car. When the request was granted one of the youthful bandits drew a revolver from a pocket that had escaped the attention of Policeman Harry Chesmore, who had made the arrest, and killed the policeman. The robbers then held up the passengers and crew of the car and escaped.

An organized man hunt followed. Automobiles, motorcycles and the entire police force were thrown into the sawmill district.

As the bandits are heavily armed, it was feared there would be a battle when they were discovered. Consequently the pursuers were given orders to shoot at sight unless the men surrendered immediately.

BURGLAR WAS LITTLE PUPPY

Little Animal Stole Clothing, Shoes and $180 and Then Hid Them Under House.

Long Beach, Cal.—A young burglar, whose thefts during the last few months have included a pair of oiled shoes, a silver backed clothes brush, a small silk coat and other articles of value, including a draft for $180, was not punished when caught, but was taken into arms by Mrs. Horace Tappley, of East Nelson street, whose husband's roof was merely, "Now, wasn't that cute?"

The thief was a little curly haired puppy. He made a cache under the house, reaching the chosen spot through a hole too small for a large dog to enter. The mystery of the disappearance of the draft was solved by following the "claw given by a neighbor's child, which led to the apprehension of the thief.

Many articles, whose disappearance Mrs. Ripley had reported to the police some weeks ago, were found under the house. The draft, recovered intact, fell into the puppy's possession through a gust of wind, blowing it from a table to the floor.

TAFT REFUSES TO PARDON HARLAN

Holds Man Convicted of Peonage is Justly Held.

PRISONER VERY WEALTHY MAN

President Expresses Belief That Fines
Are Not Sufficient Punishment for Wealthy Law Violators and Will Not Interfere.

Washington, Jan. 7.—In refusing the application for the pardon of W. S. Harlan, convicted of violation of the peonage law and sentenced to pay a fine of $5,000 and be imprisoned for eighteen months, President Taft expressed his belief that fines are not sufficient punishment for wealthy men and that imprisonment is necessary where violation of a criminal statute is proved. Harlan is manager of a great lumber and turpentine company doing business in Florida and Alabama. The president's decision says in part:

"Harlan is a man of great enterprise and of good business reputation and has involved and secured the sympathy and assistance of all who favor the industrial development of the country in the neighborhood of his activities in the south, as well of many prominent citizens of Iowa, where he was born and lived for a large part of his life. They have intervened with much earnestness in his behalf. All this has led me to examine the case with great care."

"The testimony," says the president, "was specific and detailed in cases of attempted escape of such laborers, showing their pursuit, capture, terrorism by display of revolvers, and in one or more instances actually whippings."

Rudolph Lanniger was one of the men who attempted to escape and it was the treatment meted out to him that formed the basis of the indictment and conviction of Harlan. The president says that in reading the case his conviction has been strengthened that Harlan was privy to the whole peonage plan. Mr. Taft adds: "When, therefore, a man of high business standing and large enterprises is convicted of the offense, the punishment should be such as to deter others from the practice. Fines are not effective against men of wealth. Imprisonment is necessary. I am well aware of the grievous character of confinement in jail to a man of Mr. Harlan's standing, and I should be glad to yield to the urgent appeals of his many friends, but I cannot do so. I believe him to be guilty of the charge of which he has been convicted. To retain and enforce the imprisonment part of the sentence will operate powerfully to prevent a recurrence of such offenses by men of large affairs and business standing."

"To relieve such a one from the penalty of imprisonment when properly convicted and sentenced would be to break down the authority of the law with those of power and influence, and would tempt on their part further breaches. What is worse, it would give real ground for the contention so often heard that it is only the poor criminals who are really punished."

SQUIRREL MAKES GOOD FIGHT

Administrators Severe Bites to Several Youngsters Who Would Hold
Animal in Captivity.

Birmingham, Ala.—A squirrel, 10 bloody boys and a crowd of curious spectators entered to produce one of the strangest and most amusing incidents that has occurred at the Terminal station since that place was opened.

The incident was the efforts of several boys to hold a small squirrel which did not like captivity.

One youngster grabbed the squirrel and attempted to place it in a bag. The boy's hands were lacerated terribly by the captive, and immediately surrendered to another one. The second tamer grabbed the little animal, only to be bitten about five times on the hand. Blood spouted over everything nearby. This process of exchanging was gone through with until every youngster in the bunch was bitten and scratched by the fighting squirrel. Finally a passenger, unable to witness the blood of the kids, suggested the placing of the squirrel in a paper bag. Striving to say, when this was done the kids walked off with the squirrel perfectly tame and quiet. After biting the boys and scratching all of them many of the men marveled at the tameness of the creature when it was placed in the bag. It could have easily broken through the paper and escaped.

The boys, bleeding in several places about the hands, marched off proudly with the squirrel, and, to outward appearances, did not mind the terrible biting they received in getting the little captive into the bag.

Johnny's Disappointment.

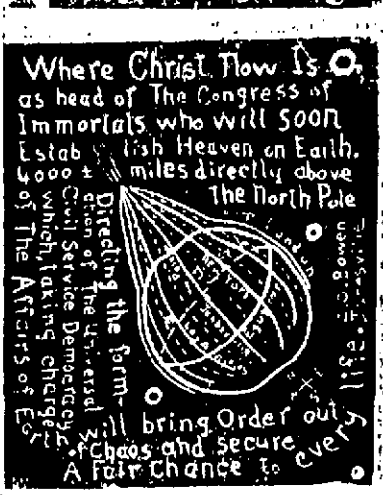

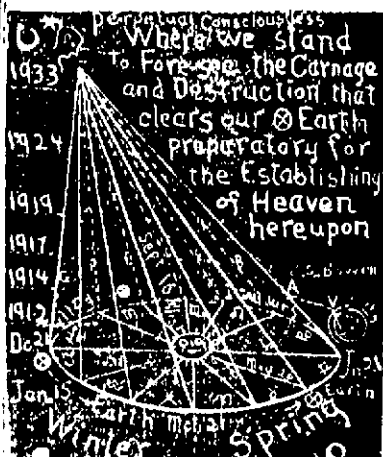

Suicides in the New York parks are of such common occurrence that the small children with their nurses grow to look for them. "What do you think?" a lot of a girl said to her mother, coming home from her park outing. "Johnny heard a shot, but he couldn't find the body anywhere."—Exchange.

In Nature's Good Time.

Just one man in fifty can see beyond his nose.

The short sighted people are in the majority—and the majority rule.

Only imagination can see what is to be.

Most people have no imagination therefore they doubt and ridicule what they do not understand.

The up-to-date merchant advertises his store widely, its policies, its methods, its goods. He knows that each ad makes an impression upon the minds of all people, young and old, some of whom may be months and even years in getting around to make their first purchase.

The up-to-date merchant has great ambitions, and great ambitions are backed by great determinations.

He who understands most is least understood.

Each issue of The Gazette gives evidence of the above.

The bargains offered today, the different advertisements of the merchants, have greater aim in view than just one sale. They want first of all to have you visit their store. They want you to talk again and again until you have become a regular patron. They offer you big bargains and inducements to come.

As the 1910 sport season closes many familiar faces are among the champions, together with some new ones. In baseball the world championship goes to the Philadelphia American league team, with Connie Mack as the dominant factor in winning the title. In tennis W. A. Larned for the sixth consecutive time holds the national championship, with Miss Hazel Hotchkiss of San Francisco as the national woman's champion. On the turf S. C. Illidreth holds the record of being the largest stake winner, with $144,025 to show for his year's work. In the middle distance runs Melvin W. Sheppard stands supreme, holding the title in everything from 500 to 1,000 yards. A new face is found as champion polo vaulter in that of Leland S. Scott of Stanford, Cal., who raised the polo vault mark to 12 feet 10 1/2 inches. In aerobatics Archie Hoxsey with an altitude record of 11,474 feet, practically two miles, stands supreme. In automobile Henry P. Grant and David Bruce Brown divide the championship honors, the former having won the Vanderbilt cup and the latter in pugilism Jack Johnson is the undisputed champion.

Willie Hoppe is credited as championship honors, the former having won the Vanderbilt cup and the latter in pugilism Jack Johnson is the undisputed champion.

MONKEYS ON WILD RAMPAGE

Six Mischievous Little Animals Break From Cage and Take Refuge in Warehouse.

London.—Half a dozen trained monkeys gave a free exhibition to several hundred Clerkenwell children. Escaping from a cage in a stable near Rosebery avenue, the monkeys soon overran the neighborhood, scampering across roofs and running up rainwater pipes, they entered a warehouse by a broken window at which they chattered and grinned until their keeper recaptured them several hours later. The crowd was chiefly amused by the antics of the smallest, which hit and otherwise irritated his companions until they turned and by a combined attack punished him. The owner of the monkeys, a music hall showman, was chiefly concerned lest the delicate animals should catch cold in the nipping east wind.

Motion of the Sun.

Owing to the revolution of the earth the sun seems to make its daily circuit around us, which of course is not the case. But the sun is revolving about its center quite as truly as the earth is. It was one of the conceptions of that most remarkable man, Sir John Herschel, that the whole solar system had a motion in space and was advancing toward a point in the heavens near the star Hercules. Sir John's conception—a bold idea as ever entered the human mind—is now generally accepted by astronomers, and the opinion is quite universal among them that the entire system is tracing out a curvilinear path in space, a course around some mighty center, probably at Hercules.

Good Enough to Charge For.

When William H. Scott was managing clerk in the early sixties for the firm of Cleveland & Titus, a client came in and wanted an opinion right away. No number of the firm was in. Accordingly, Mr. Scott, with some hesitation, wrote the opinion. When his principal, Mr. Cleveland, came in, he explained the circumstances and showed him the opinion. Mr. Cleveland looked at him with a smile and then read it with care. "Humph," said he; "pretty poor opinion, but it will do to charge." —New York Times.

A Caustic Reply.

A gentleman once said to a barrister, "That was a very good sermon of your father's today." To which he replied: "Yes. He must have cribbed it from some one." But the father overheard this remark and reminded him that the Bible says, "The ox knoweth his owner and the ass his master's crib." This caustic reply silenced the barrister. —London Telegraph.

The Ticklemouse

—and his Sleepyland Adventures

By Roy Rutherford Bailey with Davy and Dorfy

In Nutting Time

"GET up there, Prince. Get up!" Davy brought the whip down across the old horse's broad back with a sounding, whack—but Prince only jogged along in the moonlight toward the hickory woods, never a step faster than before. "What is the matter of you, Prince?" cried Davy, giving him another whack. Willy slyly leaned over and tickled Prince with the tip of his tail, and like a flash the old horse's mouth flew open and he stopped short in his tracks. "Blatter enough!" he said, showing his teeth at the surprised little boy. "How'd you like to be dragged out of bed to haul a buggy full of folks to Bugby's woods? Can't you give a fellow a chance to chew his end in peace?" Dorfy's surprise at hearing Prince speak vanished at this. "Naughty Prince," she said. "You know perfectly well horses can't chew their cud. They haven't any end to chew!" "Well," grumbled the old horse, starting along again, "don't blame me for that. Chillions that know so much about horses and cuds ought to know enough to let an old friend sleep when he gets a chance!" The four friends (for the mice hadn't been able to get Snix to come so soon after his adventure of the night before) were still laughing when they tied

Prince beside the road and struck off through the pasture, and across the creek. Davy found some long sticks to climb the hickory nuts off with, and Willy carried the sack. It was great fun to send the hard nuts rattling down home. The recent rains had washed the earth away from the roots of some of the trees, and Dorfy started stepping from one root to the next without touching the ground.

"Let's play a game on the way home," she said. "Let's see who can walk the farthest without getting off these big roots," and off she skipped, hopping from root to root like a lively little squirrel, the others hopping merrily after.

"Hold on!" cried the Ticklemouse, all of a sudden. "Which way is north?" The twins stopped and looked about them in the dark shadows. They shivered when they saw how strange everything looked. They were lost in the woods!

Hour after hour they wandered, and they might have been there yet but for Willy, who shinned up a tall tree, scuttled down, took them by the hands and led them straight through the woods to where old Prince stood waiting in the moonlight.

"What did you do, anyway?" asked Davy. "You couldn't see Prince from there, could you?" "I hardly," grumbled Willy. "But I could see the moon, and—well, I usually know my way around so long's there's any green cheese in sight."

CLEAN SWEEP SALE

A HOWLING SUCCESS

THE first two days of the sale were very disagreeable, cold and windy. Notwithstanding such drawbacks people turned out wonderfully well. They knew something was doing. The third day the weather man acted more decent and larger numbers of people took advantage of the GREAT CLEAN SWEEP SALE BARGAINS. Indications at press time all point to a record breaking day.

SEVERAL THOUSAND PEOPLE OUTSIDE OF JANSVILLE HAVE LEARNED DURING THE PAST TWO DAYS THAT WE ARE HAVING OUR GREATEST STOCK REDUCING SALE WHICH WILL CONTINUE UNTIL SATURDAY, JAN. 14TH. THESE, TAKEN WITH THE JANSVILLE PEOPLE WHO ARE SURE TO COME NEXT WEEK AFTER HEARING FROM THEIR NEIGHBORS ABOUT THE GREAT CLEAN SWEEP SALE BARGAINS, SHOULD TAX THE CAPACITY OF OUR LARGE SELLING FORCE—ALTHOUGH THEY ARE A PRETTY ACTIVE LOT.

RATE HEARING IN CAPITOL MONDAY

Interstate Commerce Commission Will Listen To Arguments Advanced
By Roads For Raise in Rates.
(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Washington, D. C., Jan. 7.—The Interstate Commerce Commission will begin the hearing of arguments in regard to the proposed advance in railroad rates, thus bringing to a close the most important public investigation of railroad business, methods and conditions that the country has ever known. The hearing of the arguments is expected to occupy the entire week. The case of the Eastern roads will be argued first and that of the Western roads after.

A conference of the steel manufacturers of the United States will meet in New York Monday to discuss prices and steel conditions. Whether concerted action will be taken looking toward a readjustment of prices downward for the purpose of reviving the slackening demand in the steel trade is not known.

Two criminal cases in which women are the defendants and both of which have attracted wide attention are scheduled for trial. In Newark, N. J., Mrs. Caroline B. Martin is to be tried for the alleged murder of her daughter, Mrs. Okey W. M. Shand, whose body was found in a bathtub in East Orange, in November, 1909. At Wheeling, W. Va., Mrs. Laura Farnsworth Schenk is to be tried on a charge of attempting to poison her husband, a wealthy brewer.

In the United States Circuit court at Trenton, N. J., a hearing will be held on the extradition proceedings instituted in the case of Porter Charlton, whom the Italian government is seeking to have returned to Italy to stand trial for the murder of his American wife at Lake Como last year.

The 26,000-ton battleship Arkansas, one of the largest warships in the world, will be launched Saturday from the yards of her builders, the New York Shipbuilding Company, at Camden, N. J.

The legislatures will begin their sessions in Arkansas, Texas, Alabama, South Carolina, Iowa, New Jersey, Wisconsin, Washington, Oregon, Kansas and several other states. Important developments are expected during the week in relation to the senatorial contests in New Jersey, New York, Iowa, Ohio, Rhode Island, Massachusetts, and one or two other states.

In Oregon, Oklahoma and several other states the new governors will be inducted into office.

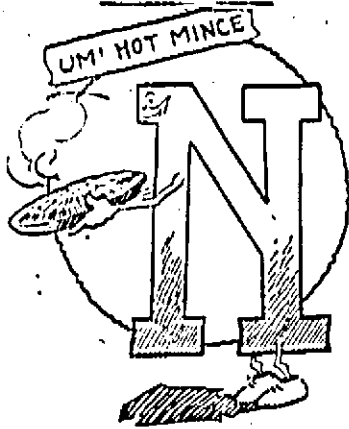

In Florida for the fifth time within two years, a state-wide Democratic primary will be held Tuesday for the selection of a United States Senator. Senator Tallaferra, whose term is about to expire, is not a candidate for reelection. The three candidates are W. A. Mount of Pensacola, John W. Stockton and W. P. Bryan of Jacksonville.

The proceedings of Congress, the reassembling of the Dominion Parliament after the holiday recess, the meeting of the first national convention of women voters, to be held at Tacoma: the meeting of the National Tariff Commission Association in Washington, with President Taft as a speaker; the annual meeting of the National Civic Federation in New York City, at which an important report on proposed legislation for workmen's compensation will be presented, and the convention of the National League of Commission Merchants in Minneapolis are among other matters that will receive attention in the news of the week.

How about you?

Here is more evidence that we can help you.

From one of our young men in a large Canadian city: "My position as chief accountant with this firm was obtained because of the thorough course of instruction in Bookkeeping and Shorthand which I secured in your College."

Hundreds and hundreds of our young men and women have sent us letters similar to the above.

Are you different from all these young people? Won't the same methods, the same principles, that helped them to bigger earnings and success, help YOU to bigger earnings and success?

They studied and applied the principles taught in our Business and Shorthand courses in the

A SURGEON may as well attempt to make an incision with a pair of shears or a pair of eyes with a pair of scissors.

Grape Fruit, Pomelo or Shaddock. This, fruit when first introduced, was considered only as a breakfast fruit, but it is now so popular that it is in demand for all meals and is served in such a variety of forms that it seems to have practically no limitations.

To serve for breakfast, the most common way is to cut them across, remove the tough fiber and seeds, cutting around the fruit next to the pulp, sprinkle with sugar and let stand over night to season.

A most delicious grape fruit salad is made by removing the pulp carefully in small sections, mix with white grapes from which the skins have been removed, a few blanched almonds and a bit of celery, all served with French dressing on lettuce leaves.

Crape Fruit Sherbet—Take the juice of six grape fruit, add four cups of sugar and a pint of water. Dissolve a tablespoonful of gelatin and add to the fruit juice and sugar after it has boiled five minutes. Cool and partly freeze; add two whites of egg well whipped and finish freezing.

Crape Fruit Marmalade—Cut off the rind and boil it in salted water until translucent; drain and soak in fresh water two hours. Scrape out with a spoon the white inner pulp and cut the rind in thin strips. Add the rind to the juice with an equal quantity of sugar and cook until it jellies, about an hour.

Candied Grape Fruit—Place the rind in brine over night and put in fresh water in the morning. Do not leave until all the bitterness is drawn out. Squeeze and strain the juice and let stand over night with the sugar, using pound for pound for the rind. In the morning bring the rind to a boil and simmer until tender and at the same time cook the juice and sugar to a sirup.

When the pool is very tender, put it into the sirup and boil until it cracks in cold water. Lift the peels out carefully with a fork and lay on waxed paper to dry.

If the bitter principle of the rind is liked, it may be steeped and added to the juice in making ice and sherbets.

The Spanish Royal Standard.

The Spanish royal standard is most complicated. The red and yellow of the Spanish flag is said to be derived from this occurrence: In 1378 Charles the Bold dipped his fingers in the blood of Geoffrey, count of Barcelona, and drew them down the count's golden shield in token of his appreciation of the latter's bravery. The shield, so marked, became the arms of Barcelona, which became part of Aragon, and its arms were taken by that kingdom. Now to the royal standard: In the first quarter or upper left hand part of the flag are the arms of Leon and Castile, the lion and the castle. The second quarter is taken up one-half by the arms of Aragon, one-half by the third quarter—directly under the first—shows the Austrian colors. The lower two-thirds is divided between the flag of Burgundy and the black lion of Flanders. The upper third of the fourth quarter shows the checkers, another Burgundian device, while the lower two-thirds is shared by the red eagle of Antwerp and the golden lion of Brabant, and on the top of all this are two shields, one showing the Portuguese arms, the other the French fleur-de-lis. Considerable of a flag that.

Rights and Duties.

The world is sick and weary of talk, perpetual talk about rights, and it listens with avidity and hope to one who speaks of duties and speaks to them plainly and emphatically.

Item For Women

Marlboro, Mass., June 1, 1910.—I can frankly say that Parolan Sago has given me perfect satisfaction, and will highly recommend it as a hair grower and beautifier, and a sure cure for dandruff. I also have recommended it to several people, and it has given wonderful results.—Mrs. G. Bartheaux, 28 Main St.

Cynthia, Ky., June 3, 1910.—I have only used two bottles of Parolan Sago, and I find my hair has increased wonderfully in thickness and luxuriance and beauty. The dandruff has disappeared, as I have tried many hair restorers, though I have found none that ever has helped my hair except Parolan Sago, so I can say it is worth all of the hair restorers I have ever found, and I will tell many friends about it. Gratefully your friend, Miss M. Clough, Box 212.

The Peoples' Drug Co. guarantees Parolan Sago to kill dandruff germs, eradicate dandruff, stop falling hair and itching scalp, or money back. It is the most delightful and refreshing hair dressing in the world and is not sticky or greasy. The Peoples' Drug Co. and druggists everywhere sell it for 50 cents a large bottle. THE PERIOD ROOM.

"Unities" Associated With Each Style Should Be Preserved.

CHIPPENDALE A SAFE CHOICE

Small Amount of Furniture in a Large Room Characteristic of Eighteenth Century Style—Balance to Point of Stiffness the Aim.

Common sense collectors will be wise to keep constantly before their eyes the possibility of gathering material for an eighteenth century room. Those who have a house with many rooms and plenty of funds for furnishing may, of course, set their minds upon a Queen Anne room, a Chippendale room, a Sheraton room, a Heppelwhite room and an Adam room and if they set their minds upon the working out of such differentiations in style and spend their money discreetly will in the course of a year or two possess a very charming house, providing, of course, that they keep ever before them the necessity for maintaining the "unities" associated with each style, the details of wall and ceiling decoration.

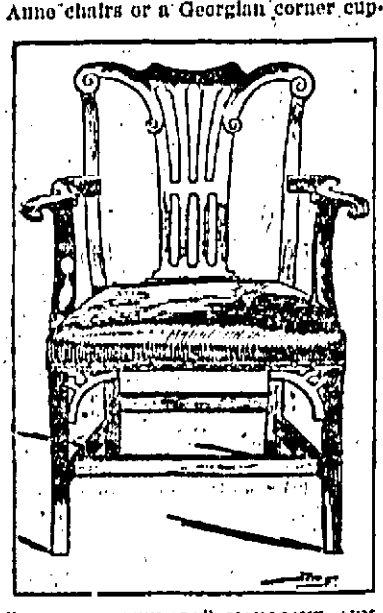

The truth is that while one must draw a hard and fast line in regard to color, richly excluding from the one room any piece of furniture that is not made of that wood or of some wood having the same characteristics and treated in the same spirit, one need not do so in respect of the great mahogany workers of the eighteenth century. There is no lack of harmony between any of them.

"To be welcome, my masters all" should be the motto of the collector in regard to the productions of Chippendale, Sheraton and the rest. This is because of the unanimity of aim pervading all their designs. Grace and nothing but grace was what they sought to encompass, and this is the link that unites them all and gives a singleness of character and unity of expression to their productions, allowing of their being placed side by side without the possibility of conveying any but the most exquisite impression to the most fastidious of connoisseurs. The effect is not decreased to an appreciable extent even if a couple of Queen Anne chairs or a Georgian corner cupboard are brought into the same room.

THE TRUE TEST.

Tried in Janesville, It Has Stood the Test.

The hardest test is the test of time, and Doan's Kidney Pills have stood it well in Janesville. "Kidney sufferers can hardly ask for stronger proof than the following:

Mrs. Emily Hill, 542 S. Franklin St., Janesville, Wis., says: "I suffered terribly from pains through the small of my back and limbs and I also had trouble from the kidney secretions. Someone finally advised me to try Doan's Kidney Pills and I did so, procuring them at the People's Drug Co. The contents of two or three boxes corrected my trouble. I hope that the publication of my statement will give other kidney sufferers the same relief that Doan's Kidney Pills have given me." (Statement given in August, 1908.)

RECOMMENDATION.

Mrs. Hill was interviewed on September 23, 1910, and she said: "You may continue to publish my former statement, regarding Doan's Kidney Pills. Since I used them two years ago, I have had no further need of a kidney medicine."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

The church must not, however, be laid—certainly not in the Dutch style. That is no scheme of furnishing that can be recommended to a beginner so unreservedly as that of the Chippendale period of the eighteenth century, the fact being that a few pieces are quite sufficient to go on with. A small amount of furniture in a large room seems to have been eminently characteristic of the middle of the eighteenth century, and assuredly if one is desirous of reproducing the effect of a room of the period one should aim at balance almost to a point of stiffness of arrangement and avoid the least appearance of crowding.

Dusting Apron. One of the greatest household conveniences is a dusting apron, or rather, an apron to wear on the days when you are dusting and cleaning. It can be made of denim of a dark color, with a long pocket for the feather duster, another for the dusting cloth and still another for a small whisk broom. With these articles at hand you are saved many a step to find the duster needed for different articles.

As to the Sun. To what group, if any, the sun belongs, we do not yet know, but Delany has presented reasons for thinking that those stars whose distances have been measured (that is to say, those which are nearest to us), group themselves around Sirius, the dog star, in a manner similar to that in which the inner planets are grouped around the sun. If this is correct, Sirius may possibly be the master sun of which our orb of day is a distant satellite.—Harper's Weekly.

If you want to keep your head of dandruff and stop falling hair, you must sooner or later resort to Newbro's Herpicide.

By using Herpicide first you save yourself worry, which is desirable, you save money, which is a consideration, and you save your hair, which is the most important of all.

Why not profit by the experience of Mrs. A. Lee, of 110 South 4th St., Richmond, Va., who writes:

"Four years' residence in India ruined my hair until it was but two inches long and very thin. I tried everything 'in Europe and America' with the hope that I was induced to use Herpicide. My hair is now long, soft and silky and natural color, while before it was quite gray. My friends never tire of admiring my hair."

Mrs. Lee's story is a typical history of hair troubles. After everything else fails Newbro's Herpicide brings relief. It would be just as effective if used first.

Newbro's Herpicide kills the dandruff germ and prevents falling hair. It stops itching of the scalp almost instantly. No matter what the claims of others, Herpicide is the only genuine original dandruff germ destroyer.

THE WIFE'S PART.

What part has a wife in her husband's success? How much can she do towards forwarding his plans or how much can she do towards holding him back from achieving the thing he has set out to do?

Suppose two men of equal opportunity start out in life in the same environment. Both have aspirations, ability and energy and both are as equal in mental equipment as any two human beings can be. Both desire above all things to succeed. Both marry about the same time, but there the resemblance between their fortunes ends.

One man has married a woman who looks upon marriage as a real partnership. She is companionable. She has a most worthy desire to help in building the family fortune. She realizes her first opportunity is in making the home as charming and comfortable as she can make it. The household worries are held in the background and she never becomes over curious over her husband's business affairs or his engagements. When he wants to talk of either she listens intelligently and she talks intelligently about them. She soon acquires the habit of remembering the things he wants to impress upon her mind, and before she knows it, he is coming to her not only to tell his troubles and worries, but to have her help plan further advances in the future.

It isn't strange when a man so circumstanced declares, "I've got the best counsellor a man ever had. Why, my wife's got a better head for business than I have. Whatever success I make I owe to her. Say, do you know that when I was determined to do so and so, she urged me to hang on because she could see that it was the better thing for me to do? The turn in luck came in a little while, and I've prospered her ever since."

The other man married a girl who would never interpose herself in his affairs further than to see that he got all his salary when it was due. She nagged him, held him back from making the ventures he believed were for the benefit of the family and would not consent to his making a change of employment when in the new offer the prospects were better though the salary was small to begin with. She lived her life in her own way, but wanted him to have no liberty of thought or action. Any wonder he made a failure in life?

The difference in the careers of the two men lay in the fact that one had secured a helpmate when he married, and the other had tied a millstone around his neck the moment he spoke the irrevocable words at the altar.

Supposition case? Yes, but one does not need to search far to find their duplicates in real life.

Good Cause For Tears.

A certain medieval sultan had all the mirrors removed from his palace, so that he might avoid the pain of seeing his own face. This sultan, called on by his grand vizier one day and by accident happened to catch sight of his reflection. His hideousness overpowered him, and he broke into violent sobbing. In this outbreak the vizier joined. Finally the sultan calmed down, wiped his eyes and got ready to smoke and talk. But not so the vizier. He sobbed on and on. His master, tapping him, whisper impatiently on the cushion, waited for him to cease. At length the sultan got angry and exclaimed:

"Why do you weep longer than I, vizier?"

"Alas," the grand vizier replied, "you wept, O commander of the faithful, because you saw your face but for an instant, but I see it all day and every day."

A Dubious Compliment.

"It looks well, but I am afraid it is dubious," said a financier, speaking of a proposed scheme. "Yes, it is dubious. It reminds me of the Turkish pasha and his wife."

"A Turkish pasha lay dying. He summoned to him the youngest and fairest of his forty-six wives and said to her in a low, weak voice:

"Put on your richest costume, your most brilliant jewels. Deck your hair with pearls and brighten your finger tips with beaus."

"The young wife blushed. Even in her grief she was flattered.

"And why, my lord," she said, "do you desire me to make this sumptuous toilet?"

"So that death when it comes," the man replied, "seeing you so beautiful, may perhaps carry you off instead of me."

KEEN INTEREST IN BOWLING CONTESTS

Games in the "Nitty" League Continue to Be Close and Exciting—Butternuts in Lead.

In spite of the fact that the Butternuts remain far in the lead in number of games won in the "Nitty" Bowling League, interest still remains active among the various teams. In fact, the race is so close for second place that four teams are tied for that position. In the games last evening at Hockett's, the Cocoonuts took two out of three from the Walnuts with the usual close scores. High score was rolled by Hockett reaching over the two hundred point details:

OLD RESIDENT AND WAR VETERAN DEAD

Charles Grochowsky, 40 Years a Monroe Citizen, Passed Away As Result of Apoplectic Stroke.

(Special to this Gazette.)

Monroe, Wis., Jan. 7.—A stroke of apoplexy from which he did not rally, resulted in the death of Charles Grochowsky, a brave old soldier, at his home on North Madison street, this city. He was stricken Wednesday morning and remained unconscious for two days.

Mr. Grochowsky was born at Schleibach, state of Russia, Germany, on January 30, 1841, and came to America in 1867, locating in Milwaukee. Later he came to Monroe and has for forty years worked at his trade as a cooper, his being associated with the shoe firm of Weber, Scott & Thrall, later succeeded by A. W. Goddard, then Stephenson & Treat, and lastly with Frank A. Treat. He left work for the last time Tuesday night.

Mr. Grochowsky's record in the Civil war is notable. Serving as color sergeant in Co. K, of the 26th Wisconsin Infantry, he was shot through the neck and left on the field at Gettysburg for dead. He was picked up and recovered from his wound in a hospital, returning home to Milwaukee. He again enlisted in 1862 and was in active service throughout the war. He was mustered out June 13, 1865. He then came to Monroe and has since resided here.

He leaves five children: Miss Nettie Grochowsky and Arthur Grochowsky of Duluth; Mrs. Preston Holloway of Buchanan, N. D.; Mrs. Peter Shea of Chicago; and Mrs. J. J. Schneider of this city. His wife also survives.

The deceased was a member of O. F. Finney Post, G. A. R., and of Concordia Lodge, I. O. O. F. The funeral will be held Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the home.

Cotherman-Geigel.

Miss Mamie Cotherman and Mr. John Geigel, both well known young people of Dutch Hollow, were quietly married at the home of Rev. L. F. Kieckhefer in Dutch Hollow. The bride has for some years successfully taught in various district schools in this vicinity.

WINNING BROTHERS CONTINUE TO PLEASE

Crowds Were Turned Away From Production Last Evening For Want Of Standing Room.

That the Winning Brothers popularity with the Jamesville public has not diminished but is steadily increasing is evidenced by the fact that long before time for the curtain to rise on last night's performance, at Myers Theatre every seat in the house had been sold and standing room was at a premium. The attraction "Men of the World" presented last night was up to the usual standard of this excellent company and applause was generous throughout the evening.

Chas. Winninger as Mark Cross, man of letters, and John Winninger as Gen. Merryweather, were especially pleasing in their parts and other roles were taken in a capable manner by other members of this popular troupe. Chas. Winninger also pleased in his song selections between the acts.

The company closes its engagement here with the performances this afternoon and evening and will then go to Chicago, where they will appear at the Bush Temple Theatre for a month's engagement.

Conservation of the natural resources of the state.

Strengthening laws relating to public health.

Co-operative association for selling farm products.

Blind (wine) factory at the state prison.

Advancement of taxation of property on all public service corporations.

Creation of a state commission to have control of all educational interests and institutions in Wisconsin.

Establishment or continuation of industrial schools for children and others not able to attend the common schools.

Settlement of suits against railroads for unpaid taxes claimed to be due the state, amounting to nearly $1,000,000.

Rigid enforcement of inheritance taxation law and special aids for attorney general to enforce it against estates of non-resident decedents leaving stocks, bonds and other securities in Wisconsin corporations, which if successful is expected to bring the state about $4,000,000 in revenue.

Appropriations for completing the new state capital to cost $4,000,000, erecting additional normal schools, prisons, asylums, reformatories and other public buildings and for maintaining them and the present institutions and for running the state government generally.

Stricter regulations of life and fire insurance companies, operating in this state.

Reapportionment of the state into congressional and legislative districts.

The first big business to come before the legislature after it has organized is La Follette, which will come on Tuesday and Wednesday, Jan. 24 and 25, the two houses voting separately on the first day and jointly on the second. Succeeding that will come the consideration and disposal of the important legislation proposed.

The democrats will vote for Congressman C. H. Welton of Sheboygan Falls for United States Senator. The vote of the 21 socialists will probably be thrown to their candidate Gaylord.

CASING WEATHER IS WANTED VERY BADLY BY TOBACCO MEN

Warm Days of December Did Not Last Long Enough to Handle the Crop.

Tobacco growers are in need of good casing weather before they can handle the nineteen ten crop. The warm days and rains of the closing week in December proved a disappointment as the cold snap came too quickly and nothing could be handled. Had the warm weather continued a few hours longer, the situation would have been greatly relieved. In consequence the buying movement has been deferred off for the present.

In commenting upon the past year's work in tobacco the Edgerton Reporter has the following to say:

"The year just closed will pass into history as one of the most unsatisfactory ones the tobacco growers of this state have witnessed in recent years. The 1910 crop came up under almost the best of stars. The approach of drought commencing with and following the planting season set the intended acreage so that scarcely more than sixty per cent reached the fields, while heavy storms following later and the presence of an unusual number of worms and grasshoppers, all tended to reduce the average quality of the crop so that a great bulk of it has been sold for stemming or export purposes. While the market stood ready to pay a remunerative price for serviceable binder crops, there was so small a percentage meeting these requirements that the average price has ruled low, being estimated by the government experts at but 7 1/2 cents per pound. Possibly 20 per cent of the crop yet unsold, may make the average figure somewhat better. Growers who had old tobacco on hand have been able to realize a steady increase in price all through the year, but the country districts are almost bare of cured leaf of any description at the present time. Drought prospect, however, are in store for the growers the coming year. Conditions were never more favorable for realizing good, strong prices for good binder leaf than at present and a liberal acreage ought to be arranged for."

"The first ray of hope the dealers in Wisconsin leaf have received since 1905 came during the year. The 1909 crop which was purchased with many misgivings, has proved the first money maker in some years, despite their gloomy forebodings. The crop yielded so large a percentage of large and green and unimpaired leaf that much damage was expected in the cure. Much to their disappointment the crop came through the sweat and sun and proving such a desirable binder that it has met with a ready sale at figures, too, beyond the sanguine expectations of packers, so that something like one time profits was realized. Up to the time the '09 came upon the market the business of the year had been a dull, dragging and unprofitable bit of trading, a continuation of conditions prevailing for three long years—a sort of limbo land. The latter months of the year have brought a revival of business that gives heart to the trade as well as some promise of the future. Old leaf, except a few remnants of the '06, has been pretty closely sold out and packers once more have their capital released for new investments. Even the neglected '04 seems destined to be wanted by the increased demand for binder leaf before the new crop is ready for market. If the new crop contained what the market now most needs the prospects for the new year would present a much more hopeful view to the dealers in Wisconsin leaf. What cannot be cured must be endured."

Wise in Human Nature.

"I have found," said Uncle Ethan, "that things always come out right if you wait long enough. For instance," he went on, "if the man in the wrong makes good and plenty of fuss, the other man will usually apologize."—Youth's Companion.

COURT DECISION'S EFFECT ON LAW

banks become frightened there is a panic in the land which paralyzes commerce and the productive energies of the union.

To prevent panic and establish tranquility in financial affairs and to insure stability in commerce and business, the bank guarantee law of Oklahoma properly perfected should be adopted by every state in the union and by the national banking system so that every depositor will have the safeguard of a bank guarantee fund behind his deposit.

So that he would have the assurance that the banker or bank would wrong, his deposit would be unfairly treated nevertheless.

There are hundreds of millions of dollars not now deposited in any bank that would come from hiding under this system. It would add several thousand millions of increased capital to the banking system to establish this method because it must be remembered that every dollar in cash measures ten dollars in deposits and credits as is proved by the history exhibited in the controller's reports.

If the amount paid by the national banks of this country as taxed on circulation were converted into a guarantee fund until it should amount to fifty millions remaining invested in two per cent bonds, such a guarantee fund would cost the banks nothing, would give them security and peace and greatly strengthen the financial and commercial stability of the nation.

The real opposition of this system comes from the ignorant officers of the big banks, of the big cities, who stupidly believe that the guaranteed safety of the depositor in a small bank would diminish the deposits in the big banks by increasing the deposits in the small banks, the big banks forgetting that a large part of their deposits is the surplus funds of the small banks.

The opinion of the big banks has been collected over the treasury department. The former United States Treasurer, Mr. Treat and former United States Controller of Currency, Mr. Ridgely and others having the approved and severely criticized the Oklahoma system, the attorney general held against the national banks law offered national banks.

It was unwise to see Mr. Ridgely, as soon as he ceased to be controller of currency, organize a company for the guaranteeing of bank deposits for the national banks. Artfully contrived under the guarantee of their assets (to the extent of protecting depositors) which the attorney general said was lawful. In other words, the former controller of the currency, Mr. Ridgely, undertook to do indirectly what the Oklahoma law directly.

AT THE PLAY HOUSES

Speaking the universal language of the heart and reflecting like a mirror, the innermost emotions of the mind, Stetson's "Uncle Tom's Cabin" is more than a strange play—it is a wonderful moral classic. It argues for the two really great themes that can engage the mind of man—human liberty and the immortality of the soul. It is a play that has long been a popular favorite with the frequent theatre goers and regular patrons of the city and wherever the Stetson company appears, it is greeted with a crowd of hearers. There is just enough pathos during the performance to show that life is not all sunshine and then comes floods of laughter which bring one away from sorrow's pull. Specimens are interspersed throughout the major number of scenes, so that the lover of high-class vaudeville is well repaid for his time and money by attending the Hoston show, which will be seen at Myers Theatre, Monday, Jan. 8, matinee and evening. Matinee for school children at 3:45.

The company that will be seen in "Baby Mine" at Myers Theatre on Monday, Jan. 23, is the same one that made the faces of the funny entertainment that it was voted by all who saw it, and so many requests have been made to Manager Myers for its speedy return that arrangements were concluded recently with Wm. A. Brady, Ltd., which will make imperative the return of "Baby Mine". Everyone who did not see the faces when it was here earlier in the season will undoubtedly avail themselves of the opportunity of seeing the faces, and the many inquiries made regarding the return of the faces has caused Manager Myers to assure his patrons that it is advisable to have seat reservations for the return engagement of "Baby Mine" made at once. Seats for the return engagement will be ready at the box office on Thursday, Jan. 19.

A KIDNEY REMEDY YOU SHOULD USE.

Undoubtedly the kidneys are greatly irritated and abused through excessive coffee, beer and liquor drinking also indiscretion in eating brinks on a long list of kidney troubles. Patent medicines kidney remedies depend mostly on spirits of nitro or salt petre for their action. These remedies only aggravate the trouble by irritating the mucous membrane.

Your kidneys need mild soothing, tonic remedies like Buchu, Uva Ursi, Couch Grass, Ananasus, etc., combined in the right proportion as you find them in our Kidney Pills.

Scalding urine, prostrate trouble, backache, offensive urine, gravel, all irritation of kidneys and bladder are quickly relieved by these pills. Their soothing action is felt in a few doses. Mr. Fomberg, our Graduate Pharmacist and Chemist would be pleased to give you full advice for their use. Remember they are not a secret patent pill but a sure remedy safe to use. Made after the best prescription for all kidney and bladder trouble, sold or mailed anywhere for 50c. Badger Drug Co., Milwaukee and River streets. The Drug Store that makes a specialty of Drugs.
